Foreword

The 1965 FLASH is designed to cover in word and in picture every area of the new school plant and every phase of school life since the opening of the new building in March 1964. The blueprint theme for THE FLASH can be utilized only in 1965; other years may bring changes, additions, even renovations, but for 1965 alone is reserved the exploration of the new plant, the newness of the equipment, and the pride in sparkling surroundings. It is for the yearbook to record the "firsts" in each facet of school life as they are lived at the new B. D. H. S.

The staff recognizes the responsibility that is theirs to record accurately, fully, and as impartially as possible the happenings that begin a new era in the history of B. D. H. S. It is their hope that this blueprint edition will not only be a book of memories, but a valuable record setting forth the high points in the story of the school.

As the vision of the architect, set down in thin lines and neat drawings, becomes real with the building blocks and mortar so will this institution change dreams of its youth into solid citizens and contributing members of society -- a true blueprint for progress.

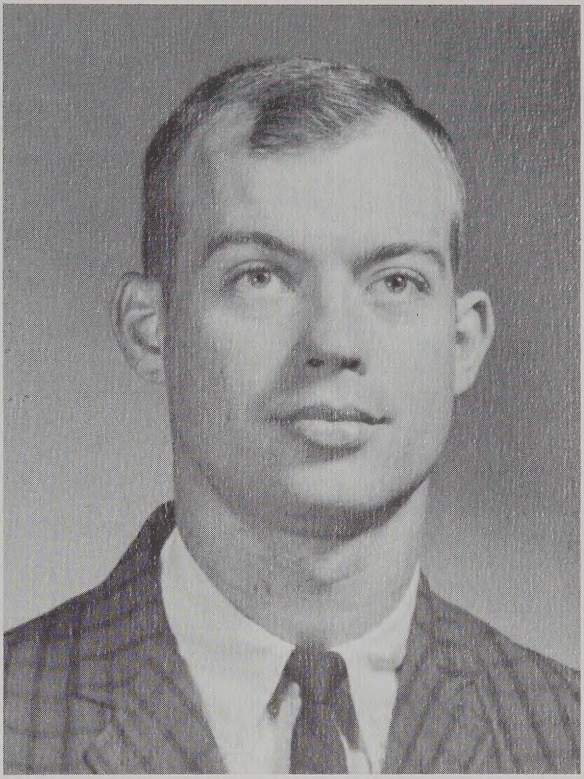
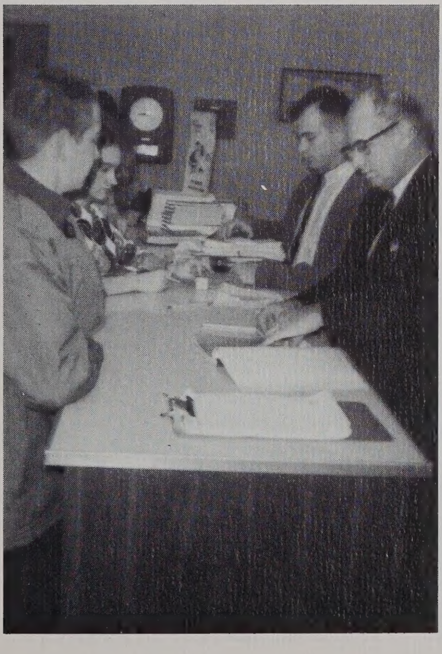
Dedication



James E. Cheek



To James E. Cheek, English instructor and coach, we, the yearbook staff of 1965, respectfully dedicate the thirty-fifth edition of THE FLASH.

Mr. Cheek, a graduate of Emory and Henry College in 1962, has continued work on his Masters Degree at the University Extension in Arlington.

A busy man, he always finds time to assist students with problems, educational or personal. His warm personality entitles him to the name "friend."

Mr. Cheek has earned the respect and cooperation of the baseball team, the J. V. and Varsity basketball teams, the football team, and the drama groups -- all of which he sponsors as head coach or assistant.

Generous with his time, he arrives early to sign passes, stays late to practice, and returns in the evening for games or plays.

As an instructor, he challenges, inspires, and strives to get each student to realize his potential. A devoted husband and father, he enjoys relaxing with his wife and two lovely children when the day is done.

B.D.H.S. opened on September 5, 1929, with eighty-eight students and eight teachers in a plant consisting of six classrooms, two washrooms, and an auditorium-gymnasium combination. The plant was enlarged by four classrooms, a library, and an office in 1947.

In February 1953, the high school wing was added and the enrollment began a steady climb until 1963 when construction began on the new plant. Moving day was on March 14, 1964, when students and faculty worked Saturday to open another chapter in the annals of B.D.H.S.

Three principals have served the school -- Mr. C. O. Bittle (1929-1947), Mr. Cale Gibson (1947-1950), and Mr. D. C. Link (1950-19--). Four superintendents have also directed the progress of B.D.H.S. along the path it is now traversing.

Students, past and present, are loyal to the strains of the Alma Mater that has resounded through the halls of the buildings pictured on these pages.

Blueprint Foreshadows Progress

Alma Mater

Hail to thee, our Nokesville High School.
Loyal, brave, and true,
We will sing our Alma Mater
And lift our hearts to you.

Onward, onward, ever faithful,
True and loyal be
Like the mighty Bull Run Mountains
Ever proud of thee.

Mrs. Martha Irvin and Mrs. Mary Herring moved with the high school to its new location. They serve approximately 135 students per day in the new cafeteria. The spacious kitchen is well equipped and organized for convenient service.

Mr. J. D. McClung came to work at B. D. H. S. prior to its opening in March 1964. With the help of two student sweepers, he cares for the new school plant, opens and closes the building, and even finds time to attend night activities at the school.

Service Personnel Move with Students

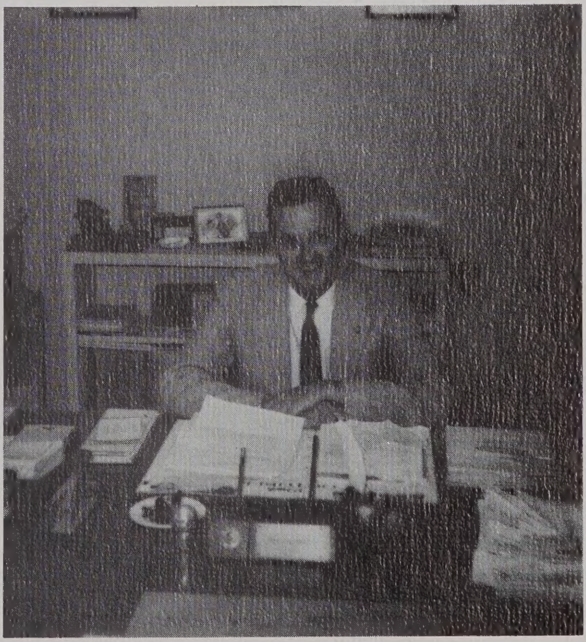
Six bus drivers serve both the Nokesville Elementary School and Brentsville Disctrict High. They are Mr. Howard Marshall; James McMichael and Phillip Blankenship, seniors; Mrs. Janet Dawson, Mrs. Margaret Rector, and Mrs. Elsie House.

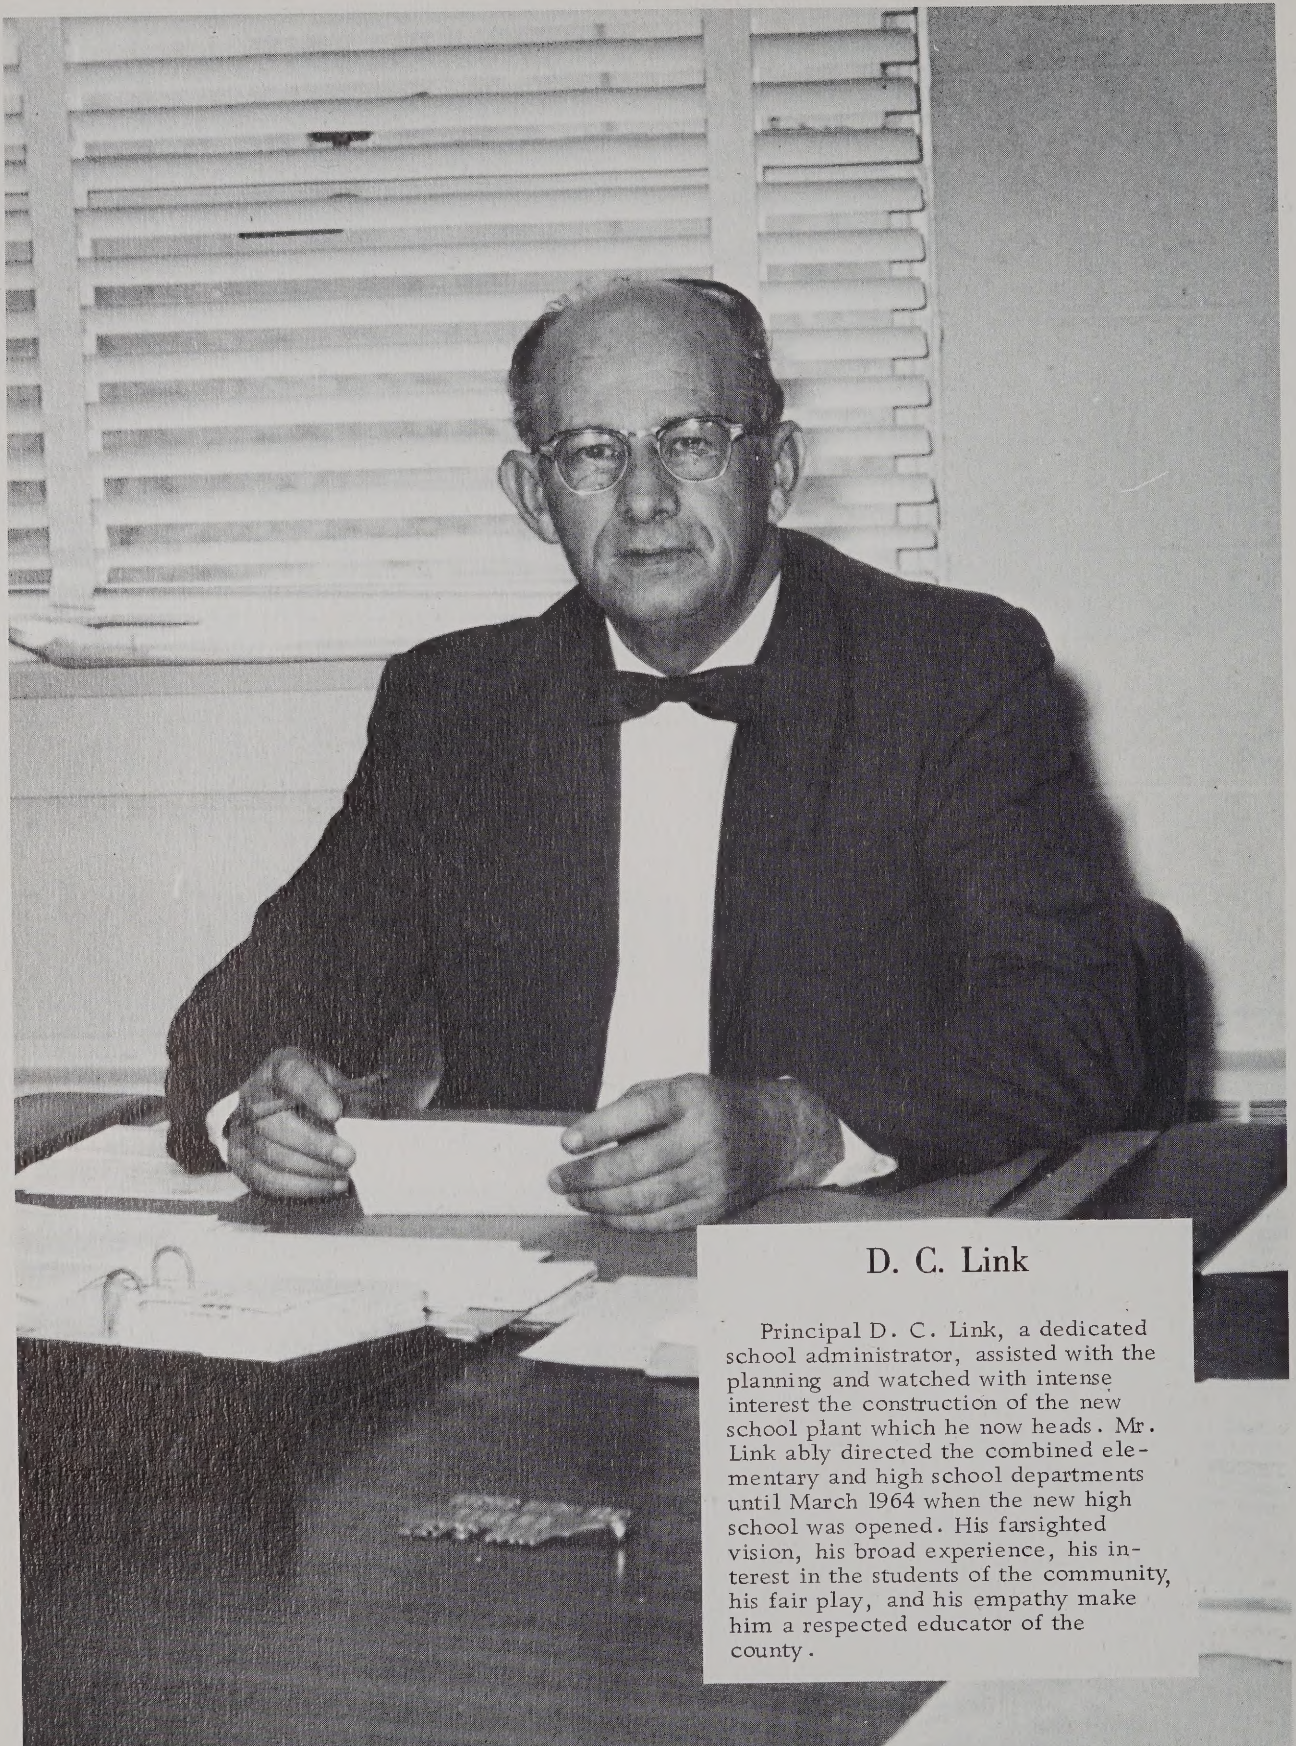
County administrative officers are pictured in the professional library. Mr. S. M. Beville, superintendent; Mr. Kent Clark, supervisor of secondary education; Mr. C. E. DeHaven, director of instruction; Mr. Herbert Saunders, director of personnel. Mr. Earnest Hill, supervisor of teaching materials, and Mr. Joe Tosti, assistant superintendent.

Administrators Plan for Progress

Mr. T. Clay Wood, school board member from Brentsville District, frequently calls at the new high school which he has been instrumental in securing. Foresighted, he is already planning for expansion that will accommodate twice the present enrollment. Mr. Wood is pictured during a visit in the principal's office.

Mr. Stuart M. Beville is shown in his office in the new administration building in Manassas. "Change" has been the keynote of his superintendency; certainly he has built more schools, administered a larger budget, supervised more personnel, directed more programs, and initiated more improvements than any one of his predecessors.





D. C. Link

Principal D. C. Link, a dedicated school administrator, assisted with the planning and watched with intense interest the construction of the new school plant which he now heads. Mr. Link ably directed the combined elementary and high school departments until March 1964 when the new high school was opened. His farsighted vision, his broad experience, his interest in the students of the community, his fair play, and his empathy make him a respected educator of the county.

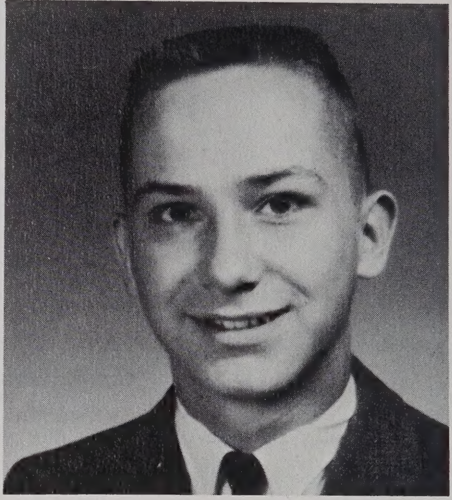
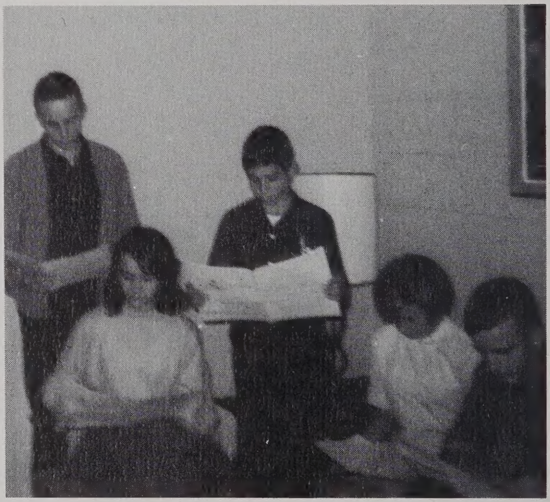
Class Activities Foster Leadership

Darrell Powell, president of Eleven-one, and vice-president of the Student Council, was elected president of State F. T. A. at its annual convention on November 20 and 21 at the Hotel Roanoke. Darrell is the first state officer elected from B. D. H. S. since Gerald Hopkins served as vice-president of the S. C. A. in 1960.



No longer is the publication of THE FLASH the responsibility of the Senior class alone. Beginning in 1964, the staff was recruited from Grade 10 or above. Ellen Sonafrank is serving as assistant editor; Joe Hale as class editor for Grades 8 and 9; Beth Golladay as assistant club editor, Patricia Hamon as curriculum editor; Ruth Whitt as assistant curriculum editor; and Barbara Herring as photographer's recorder.



Grade 9 is involved in the testing program promoted by the state and the county. Officers of Nine-one and Nine-two are shown receiving STEP and SCAT scores in the guidance office.

Grade 8 has orientation once each week. A group of Eight-two students is shown practicing some of the tips learned in the unit "How to Study." Other units covered follow: "Know Your School," "Know Yourself," "Drop-outs," "Individual Interests and Abilities" and "The World of Work."

Music

Liberal Arts Courses Added

Since the beginning of the Space Age, math and the sciences have been given positions of prominence in American schools; however, B.D.H.S. is proud of her emphasis upon the arts and humanities. Three teachers instruct in the art of communicating effectively in the English language. Themes are required every two weeks; vocabulary, spelling, and remedial reading share equally with literature and the study of formal grammar. Mr. James Cheek's class is shown dramatizing a scene from Shakespeare. English V for Seniors, a new class at B.D.H.S., is taught by Mr. Emmett Snellings. Saundra Albrite, John Mercer, and Vera Heddings study world literature, public speaking, advanced grammar and composition.

The American government classes -- two of them for the first time-keep up with current events and spend much time studying the 1964 presidential election. They keep up-to-date bulletin boards on candidates, campaign throughout the school, and hold pre-November elections. Miss Davis, a new teacher from New York, is the instructor.

Prior to 1964, music was the only one of the fine arts offered at B.D.H.S. Students may participate in band or chorus, meeting during the activities period. Once each week band members receive private rehearsals in small groups where they work on difficult music, study theory, and develop an appreciation for fine compositions.

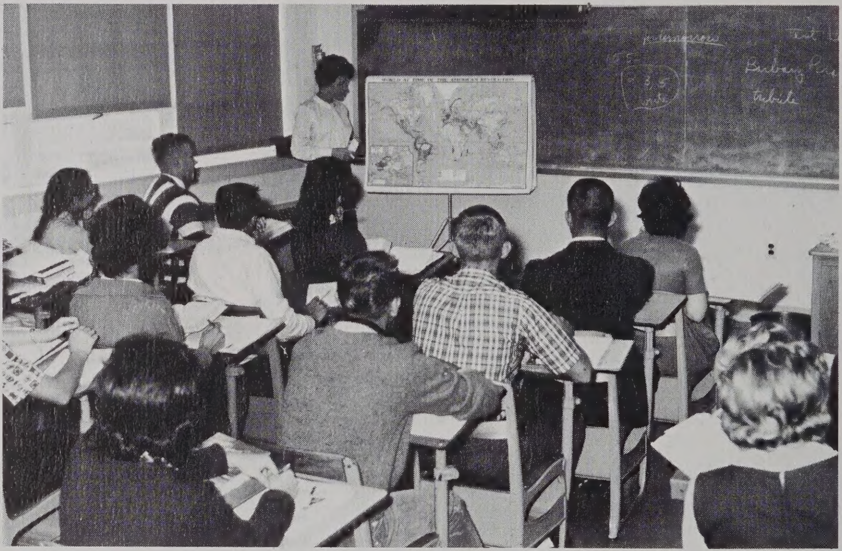
Newest of the departments is the very popular art section taught by Mrs. Betty Dyke, a graduate of Longwood College. The beginning classes have a varied program including the study of color combinations, weaving with artistic designs, painting, sculpturing, sketching, graphics and crafts. Time will also be devoted to art appreciation. The agriculture classroom is the locale of the hard working art students shown below.

Art

Mr. Wilson and his world geography class find up-to-date maps essential to a better understanding of the world in which they live. Arranging the desks in a semi-circle provides a better opportunity for group discussion so necessary in the study of geography. Mr. Wilson also teaches two classes in world history.

Academic Subjects

"Those who do not learn their history lessons are destined to re-live them," so spoke Herbert Hoover, who died October 20, 1964. Miss Davis is attempting to insure that the lessons of U. S. History be learned well so that wars, depressions, civil strife, and reconstruction need not be re-lived by the forty-eight Juniors who are required to take her history classes. She also teaches social studies for Eighth Graders.



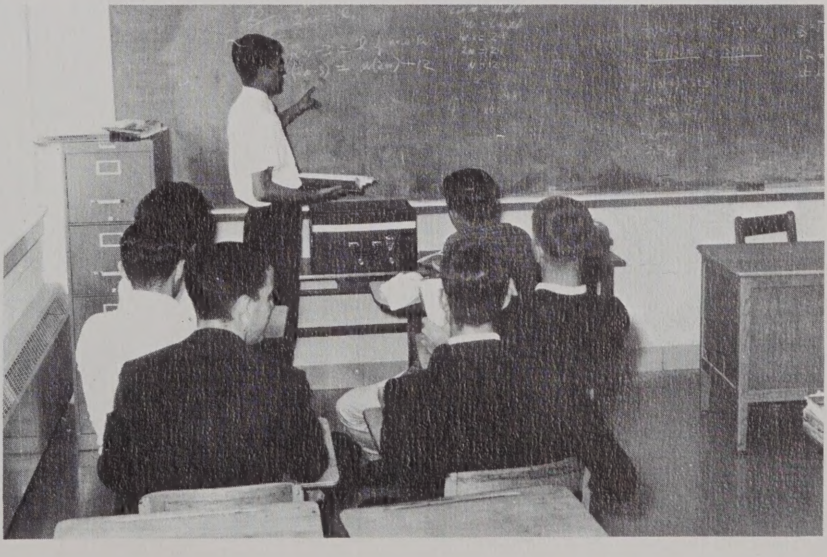
Although the study of the written language is emphasized in second-year French, the spoken language will be most useful for the future. Students record, play back, and criticize their own speaking techniques. The audio-lingual approach to French is somewhat new at B.D.H.S. Two classes of French I are being introduced to the language through the A L M program. Tapes, records, and materials for these classes were purchased in 1964.

Biology students of Mr. Gerald Gregory have two new microscopes with which to study blood types and body tissue. The course is being up-graded to include the discoveries in the field of biological science in the last ten years. The trend is toward emphasis upon the physiological and chemical functionings of living organisms including RNA and DNA. Three projects are required -- one for the first semester on plants; one for the second semester on animals, and a term project of the student's choice.

Lead to College

Six students are enrolled in the new physics class which has the privilege of using some of the most up-to-date lab equipment in the country. Mr. Russell Jamison, instructor, who also teaches two sections of chemistry, prepared for his new assignment by a summer of hard work at Madison College.

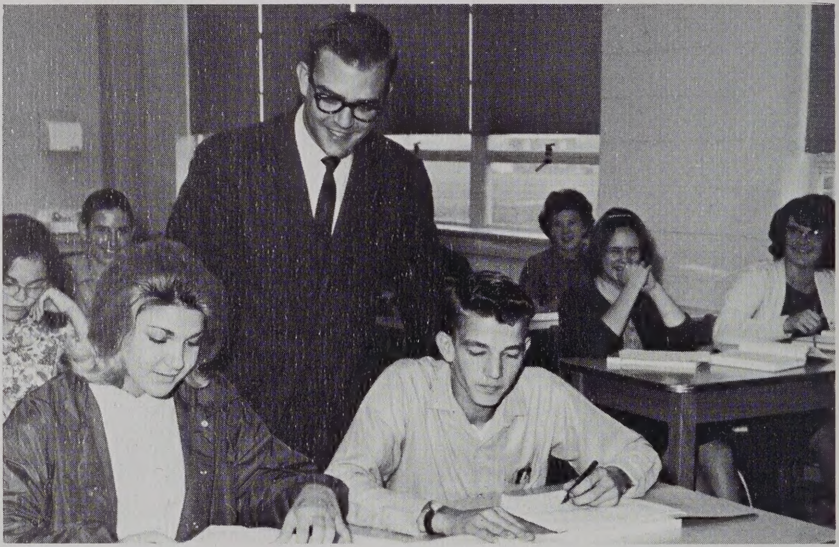
Advanced math including algebra, plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry is taught by Mr. Gary Proctor, a new teacher at B.D.H.S. Technical advances in the Space Age have made advanced math a "must" for all college preparatory students an those interested in technical schools. "Difficult but challenging" is the verdict of those enrolled in Algebra II.

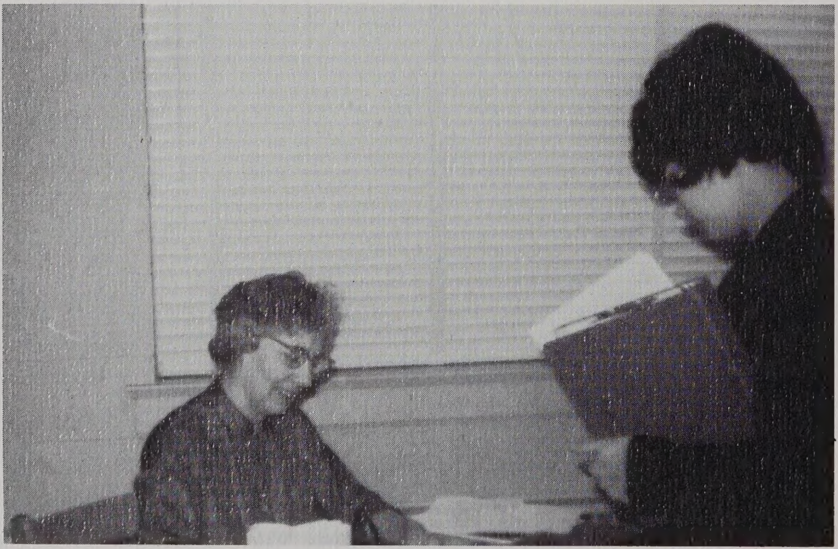


There are four classes of typing with a total enrollment of seventy. Three of these are beginning classes under the instruction of Miss Sandra Blosser; the other is an advanced class taught by Mr. Norval Waugh. Teachers have two objectives -- one to prepare students for a job, the second to teach personal typing. A goal of 80 words per minute is set for the end of the second year.

Vocational Subjects

Students at B.D.H.S. have the opportunity of learning the record phase of accounting in a new course taught by Mr. Waugh, a teacher with five years of experience before coming to Nokesville. Bookkeeping is quite popular among Juniors and Seniors; it is also a valuable addition to the business department which has previously offered only two years of typing and two years of shorthand.





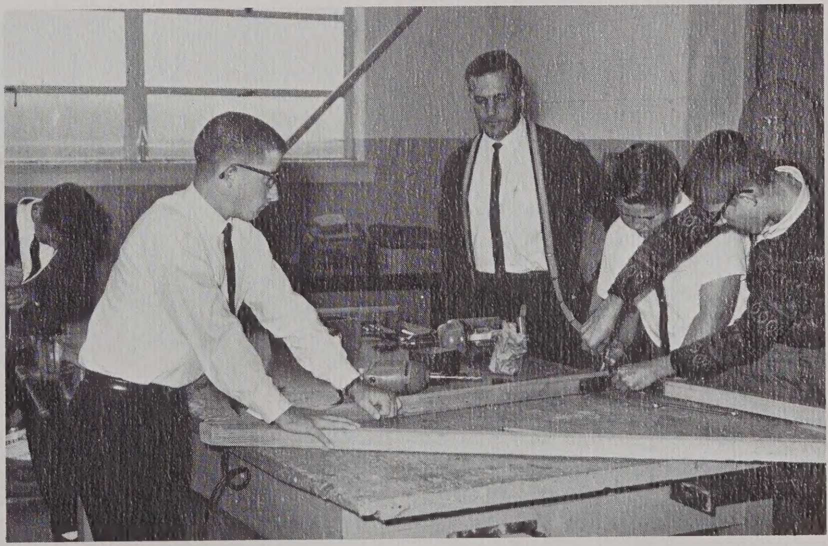
Miss Hattie Mae Partlow, guidance counselor, is quite helpful to students in planning educational courses, choosing colleges and vocations, or solving personal problems. Time is budgeted for conferences and interviews, for orientation, and for the dissemination of information from colleges, business firms and the armed forces. Miss Partlow is pictured registering a new student, Shirley Lyda.

Rendering valuable service to their school, through on-the-job training, and earning a credit for their work are the ten students in office practice. Assigned to the library are Jane Randolph, Jane Miller, Carolyn Payne, and Marie Hoosier. Philip Blankenship, Susan Urbanski, and Saundra Albrite get experience in the principal's office while Mary Mayhugh, Bessie Sexton, and Dorothy Tyler are assigned to the Guidance Department.

Prepare for Life

The Home Economics Department opened in a new location with a new teacher in 1964. A double kitchen, modern and well equipped, adjoins a large multi-purpose room with sewing machines, cutting tables, a dining area, and a living room. New linens, china, and tableware make homemaking a real adventure as students study personality development, food preparation, child care, money management, sewing, and handwork. Dorothy Childress and Linda Clemen are shown in the new kitchen with Miss Sandra Cowan.

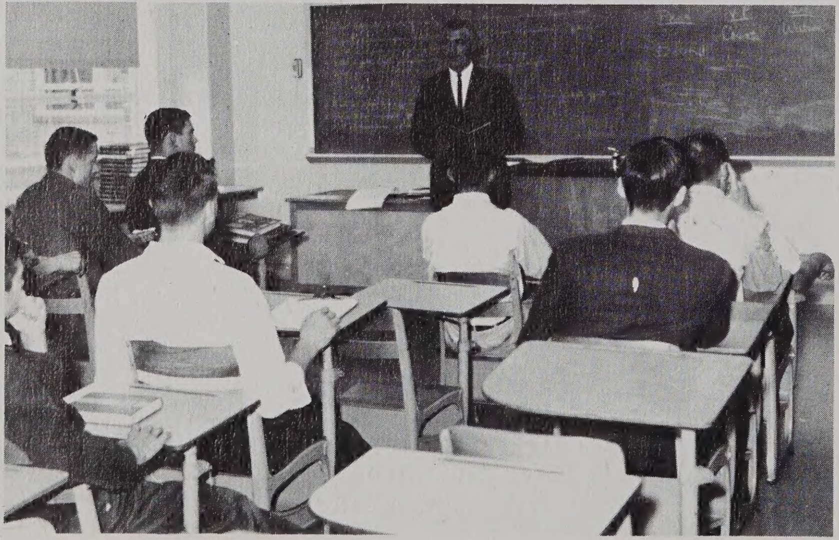
B.D.H.S. has the only vocational agriculture department in Prince William County. In 1964 Osbourn closed her department and their instructor, Mr. Alvin Kline, joined the Brentsville District faculty. Equipment was transferred, and the two-teacher department began instruction in supervised farming, machinery repair, farm management, and soil conservation. Robert DeWald, Warren Barlow, Mr. Bradford Douglas, Ronald Kearnes and Leslie Beverly are pictured in the new shop.



The health and physical education classes have an expanded curriculum since a classroom and a double gymnasium are available for their use. The gym, shared by boys and girls on Fridays of each week, is assigned to the girls on Mondays and Tuesdays then to the boys on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Health and Safety Programs Expanded

The instructional program in driver education is followed by behind-the-wheel practice for 7 hours. Each Tuesday Mr. Robert Moore, who also teaches at Gar-Field, prepares students for driving tests to secure permits. A reduction in insurance rates results from satisfactory completion of classroom and behind-the-wheel training.



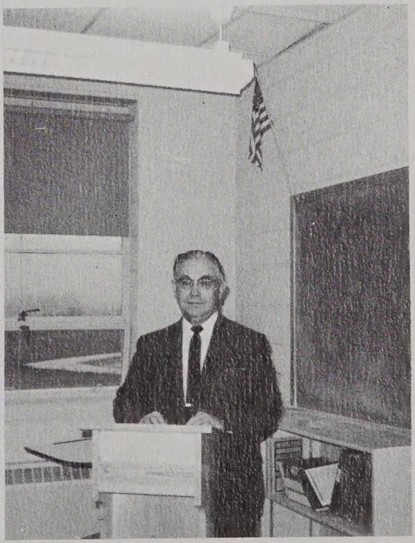
Health and driver training are taught to boys in Room 101 on days the girls occupy the gym. The 3-2 program enables the student to understand the importance of good health habits -- physical, mental and emotional.

Schools in the Battlefield District compete in forensics as well as in sports events. Winners in the local school contests in prose reading were James Page and Robin Cooper. In poetry reading, Brenda Flory and David Hogan were chosen to represent the school.

Forensic Winners Compete in District

In a spelling contest conducted by Reverend Emmett Snellings, director of forensics, Marilyn Heddings copped the honors and represented B. D. H. S. at the District Meet.

Public speaking honors went to Jerry Gray, a former district winner, and to Dorothy Tyler, a Senior contesting for the first time. Mr. Snellings, director, attended the training session on February 20 at the University of Virginia in preparation for coaching his contestants in the District Meet.



Schelhorn and King

Principal D. C. Link crowns Jane Schelhorn queen of the Mistletoe Ball then presents the king's scepter to Dwight King.

At the Christmas Social sponsored by the Student Council on December 22, the king's attendants were Cubby Bear, Tommy Hess, Philip Spittle, Bradley Hively, Robert Spencer, Butch Beard, Jerry Ratliff, and Jerry McKinster.

Queen Jane's court was also made up of representatives from each of the ten homerooms. They were Mary Roughton, Flora Blankenship, Wanda Mauck, Martha Echols, June Blank, Crystal McGee, Evelyn LeRoy, Barbara Mauller, and Janet Brady.

Reign at Christmas Social

Alumni came to chat with old friends and to dance or to chaperone the first Christmas social in the new gym.

Alumnus Pete Herring and his "Satellites" furnished the music for the Mistletoe Ball which was planned and prepared for by Stewart Matthews and his SCA Social Committee -- Barbara Herring, Mark LeRoy, Linda Clemen, and Martha Echols.

P.T.A. members and relatives of the committee served as chaperones and presided at the refreshment table.

Juniors Present "Off the Track"

"Off the Track," a comedy in three acts by Felicia Metcalfe, was presented on November 20 by the Junior class. The scene was laid in a small railway station on a stormy night. The characters were brought together when a fast train derailed, and they must wait for the relief train. Mrs. Vanderventer threw the crowd into pandemonium when she discovered her $10,000 pearl necklace was missing. Miss Pidgie, the amateur sleuth, found them in Mrs. Guarino's lunch basket. Bill Lindsay, the prospective lawyer, was convinced that Mrs. Guarino was innocent so he decided to hold a preliminary trial. He proved Mrs. Guarino guiltless and exposed Mrs. Vanderventer herself as the unsuspecting criminal.

CAST:

Mr. John Morgan	Denny Yankey
Silas Dobbins	Richard Beach
Flickie Nelson	Jackie Osborne
Betty Phillips	Flora Blankenship
Joan Parker	Marilyn Heddings
Mrs. Guarino	Diane Lee
Antonia Guarino	Audrey King
Bill Lindsay	Tommy Hess
Mr. Oscar Pozenby	Sammy Flory
Willie Woodson	Phillip Senes
Evalina Bumpass	Dorothy Childress
Mrs. R. Vanderventer	Virginia Gray
Miss Pidgie	Barbara Carrico

Mr. James Cheek, director, keeps things well in hand as Pat Thee and Joletta Gough apply the make-up before the show begins.

Bill Lindsay tries to calm Mrs. Guarino after she has been accused of taking Mrs. Vanderventer's $10,000 pearls.

Miss Pidgie stirs up the fire as she feels a bit chilly.

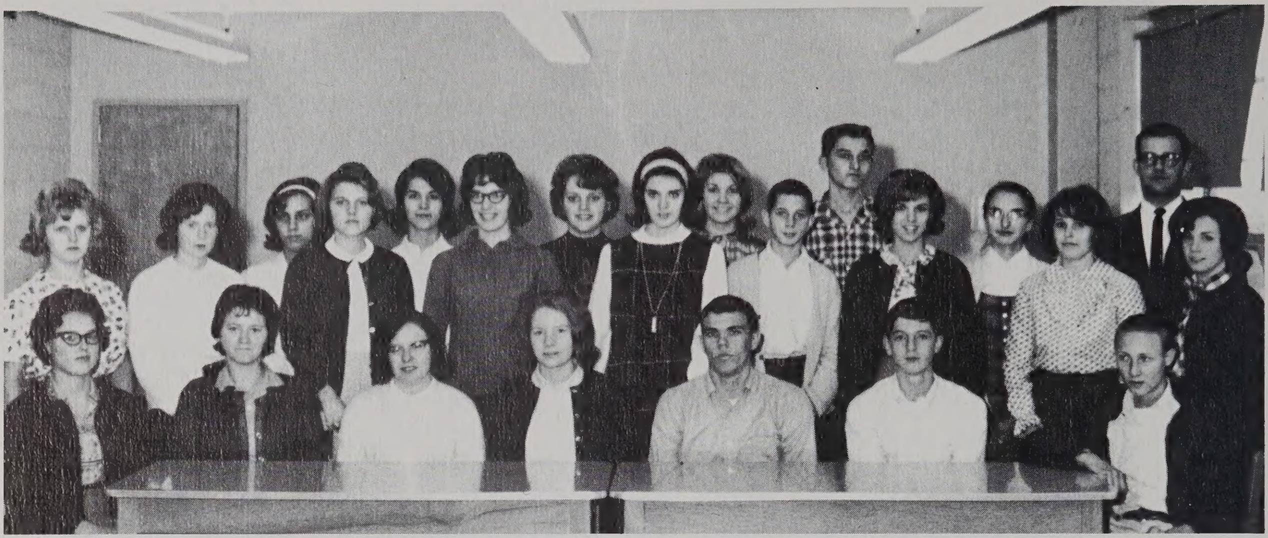
The Buzzer Staff Reorganizes



BUZZER STAFF

Bessie Sexton and Muriel Vires, co-editors, proofread a copy of THE BUZZER.

THE BUZZER, instead of being published by the Junior Class, was organized on the same plan as a newspaper with editors, department editors, and reporters. Bessie Sexton and Muriel Vires were chosen to be co-editors at the beginning of the year.

With the competent help and guidance of Mr. Waugh, THE BUZZER became a popular record of school affairs, published monthly and circulated to the entire student body.

Flash Wins Distinguished Rating

The annual staff was open to the tenth and eleventh grades this year for the first time. Previously it had been the responsibility of the Senior Class.

With Miss Partlow as active and experienced sponsor and Roxanne Griffith as editor and lifeblood of the staff, THE FLASH progressed rapidly in its work.

American Yearbook offered a "Big E" award to encourage promptness and excellence in copy production. When three-fourths of the copy had been submitted, the staff was notified that it was "well on its way to the Big E."

THE FLASH, with its blueprint theme, was distributed to 240 students and patrons in May.

Mr. Neill Watson, III, representative of the American Yearbook Company, checks out copy with Miss Partlow, sponsor, and Roxanne Griffith, editor.

Homemaking Degrees

The F. H. A. theme for the '64-'65 session is "Marriage Calls for Preparation." A float (shown at left) was entered in the Nokesville fireman's parade in June. The club sponsored a social on November 20, and prepared spot announcements for radio station WPRW during F. H. A. week.

A mother-daughter banquet was served in the spring; Annie Coppage is shown presiding. Also pictured is the fair exhibit "Reach for A Star" which took second prize at the county fair. The annual fashion show was staged in March for the F. H. A. assembly and P. T. A. programs.

Corsages made by the members were quite popular as gift items at Christmas. At left, Eighth Graders, Mary King, Joyce Herndon, and Cecilia Clatterbuck, enjoy a meal they have prepared in their new kitchen-dinette area.

For the third consecutive year, the Nokesville Chapter won an outstanding Chapter award in 1964. Two members of the graduating class, Jane Lunsford and Annie Coppage, also received State Degrees in homemaking at the annual convention at Old Point Comfort in June.

Forestry Judging Tea

The FFA is busy organizing the new shop to include the equipment from Osbourn and the old shop. Two teachers, Mr. Bradford Douglas and Mr. Alvin Kline, are directing the class instruction and the shop activities for the sixty boys in the department.

The forestry judging team at left won first place in the Blue Ridge Federation with Roy Wood having a perfect score in tree identification and measurement. Tommy House, Paul House, and Paul Lavoie attended the district contest on October 31.

President, Edwin Elliot.

Social Hour

The second meeting of the County Federation of S. C. A.'s was held at B. D. H. S. on January 13. Mrs. Nellie Curtis, Director of Guidance at Woodbridge Senior High School, was keynote speaker on the topic "Leadership -- Who, What, and Why."

President Edwin Elliot, of Osbourn, presided at the business session. Discussions were led by Stonewall Jackson, Brentsville District, and Osbourn. Darrell Powell served as moderator for the questions posed the speaker after the discussions.

Mary Mayhugh, Saundra Albrite, and Brenda Flory served as hostesses. Senators for B. D. H. S. were Barbara Mauller, Janet Pease, Joe Hale, Darrell Powell, and Phillip Blankenship. John Mercer was vice-president of the federation and program chairman for the meeting.

Other meetings were held at Gar-Field in October and at Osbourn in April. The chief project for the year was establishing S. C. A.'s in the new high schools of the county -- Stonewall, Marsteller Junior High, Parkside, Graham Park, Fred M. Lynn, and Woodbridge Senior High. The first meeting was organized as a workshop to assist these schools in preparing constitutions, point systems, and codes of ethics. The second meeting was designed to give ideas about leadership qualities in the student body. At the third meeting, the new corresponding secretary and president from B.D.H.S. were installed for 1966.

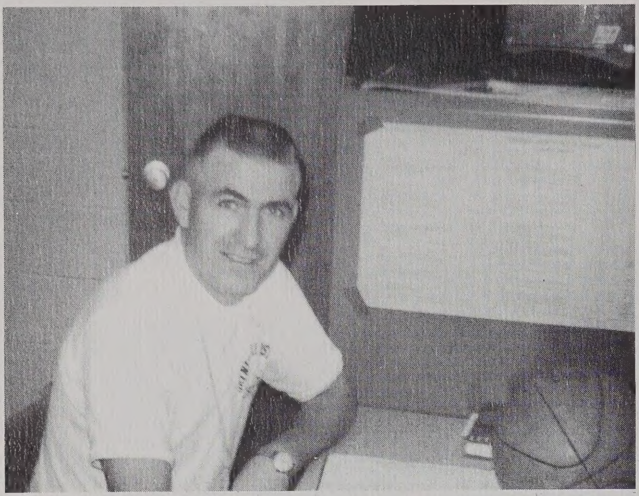
and New Uniforms Too

Varsity Cheerleaders added in 1964 were Robin Cooper, Lois Eschinger and Carolyn Payne.

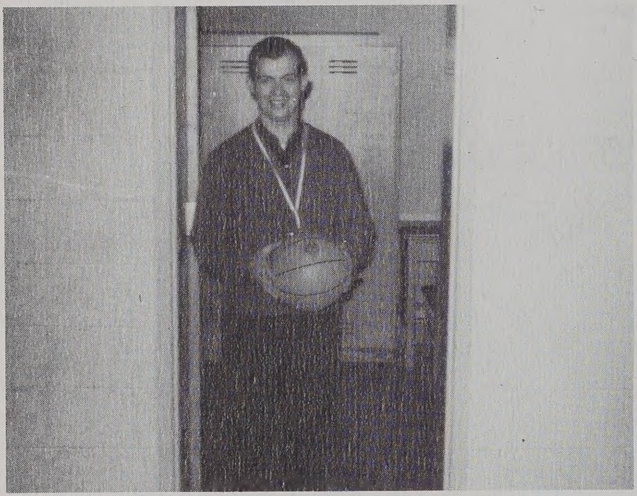
Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were organized for the first time in 1964. These girls will serve an apprenticeship and be prepared to take the place of Varsity Cheerleaders. They are Ann Watson, Mary Byrnes, Beth Golladay, Jackie Osborne, Janice Smith, Carol DeWald, and Kitty Gray. New uniforms in the new gymnasium reflect a boost in school spirit and morale. Junior Varsity captains are Carol DeWald and Janice Smith. Varsity captains are Dorothy Childress and Shirley Godfrey. The sponsor is Miss Sandra Blosser.

Coaching Experience Totals 45 Years



Charles O. Calhoun

Mrs. Dorothy Moore



James Cheek

Gene Wilson

William Brannon

Athletic director, Charles O. Calhoun, was assisted by James Cheek in basketball. Bill Brannon was head coach for football and Gene Wilson, assistant for football. Coach Calhoun himself directed the track team; and Coach Cheek, the baseball boys.

Mrs. Dorothy Moore was responsible for all girls' athletics -- Varsity and J. V. basketball, and softball.

An experienced staff contributed much to the success of the Tigers. Coach Calhoun is our most experienced Coach with 15 years. Then follow Mrs. Moore, 14 years; Gene Wilson, 9 years; William Brannon, 4 years; and James Cheek, 3 years.

in Battlefield District

The Tigerettes won five games this season because of four contests forfeited by Culpeper and Stonewall Jackson who were unaware of ineligible players until the close of the season. The traditional team spirit was in evidence, and the Tigerettes tied for sixth place in the Battlefield League.

The new mascot, "Seymour," a seasoned traveler, was donated to the team by Coach Moore's sister.

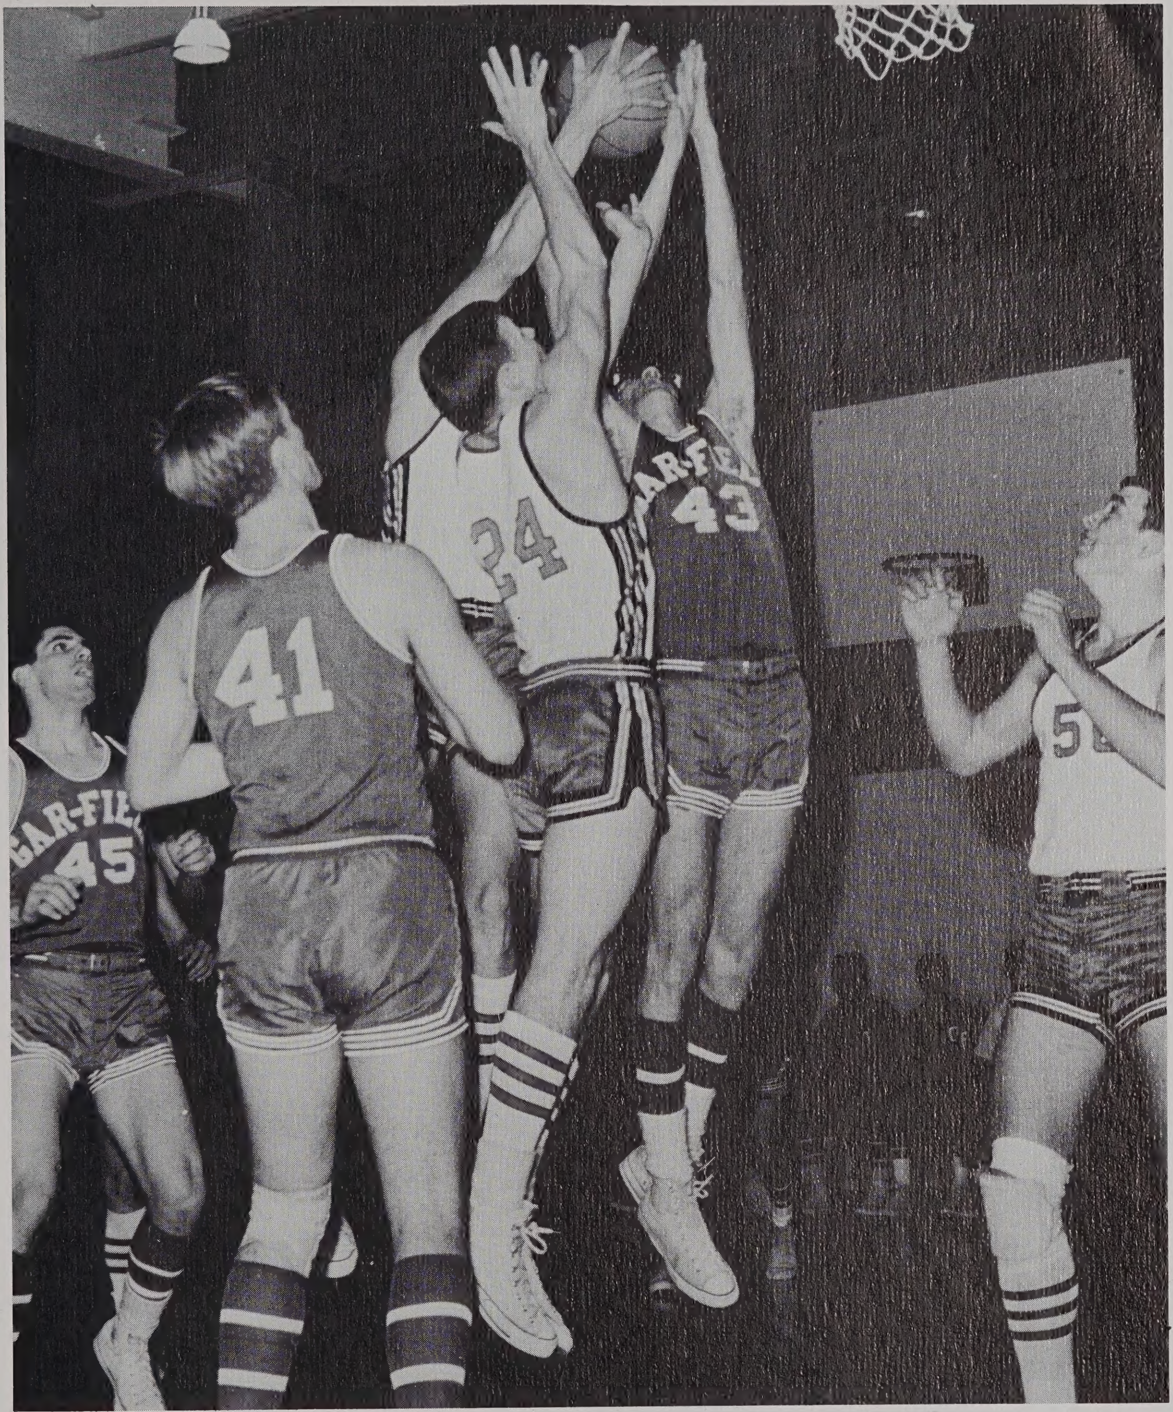
Fourth in the District



Excellent attendance at both home and away games characterized the 1965 season. All teams in the 1B Battlefield District were evenly matched thereby resulting in very close wins or losses. No one team remained undefeated for the entire season. Even Gar-Field, undefeated at the time of the action picture above at Nokesville, suffered defeat later. From a team well-balanced in shooting ability, Dwight King and Joe Allen emerged as two of the leading scorers in the district. Joe also proved to be an outstanding rebounder and the player showing the most improvement.
